

SURCHARGE OK'D: NOW--TAX REFORM

Houston Heart Surgeons Lead Medicare Parade For Payment

By JAMES R. POLK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two famous Houston heart surgeons, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and Dr. Denton A. Cooley, each received about $200,000 in Medicare payments last year, ranking them as apparently the highest paid doctors in the nation under the government program.

A special investigation now underway has found no indication of irregularity in the payments, which involved hundreds of difficult heart and blood vessel operations.

Investigators said the payments went mainly into a fund at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, rather than to the doctors personally.

(A Benton Harbor physician, Dr. Sanford Polansky, has returned $169,000 paid to him for treatment of Medicaid patients, asking that he receive payment only on invoices supported to "complete satisfaction.")

Dr. Polansky said he has been subjected to crank letters and unfair publicity following announcement of Medicaid payments.

Officials of Michigan Blue Shield, which administers the state and federally funded program in Michigan, said last week that "no pattern of impropriety" has been found in Dr. Polansky's request for payment.

Cooley has performed 20 human heart transplants, more than any other surgeon in the world.

DeBakey, the first physician to use an artificial heart pump on a human, has performed 11 transplant operations.

Washington officials said none of the Medicare money so far has gone for transplants, although one patient receiving government disability payments died in Houston while awaiting a new heart.

Official Medicare records listed $202,959 in payments for DeBakey last year.

This is the highest sum for one physician made public to date throughout the nation.

Cooley was paid $193,124 under Medicare, records showed. This also topped the previous known high. A Medicare report sent to Congress earlier this year but compiled before 1968 records were complete had listed the highest annual payment rate at $191,000 to a Florida physician eventually identified as Dr. Morry S. Fox, a Miami osteopath.

DeBakey said the payments covered operations performed by a team of doctors, rather than himself alone.

He said they involved "the whole range of cardiovascular operations and open heart surgery—the most complicated and the most difficult type of operations."

TOTAL OPERATIONS
Medicare records show that DeBakey was paid for 642 operations last year and Cooley for 408.

DeBakey said all the Medicare payments were meant to go into the general fund of the Baylor College of Medicine. He is president of the school.

A spokesman for the treasurer's office at the Baylor medical school said most of the money for operations by DeBakey and Cooley was kept by the fund, although part of it was paid to the two physicians under a fee arrangement with the school. He would not give other details.

Cooley, 48, was a member of the Baylor faculty until he resigned this spring after a controversy over the use of a total

Big Debate Shapes Up In House

Who Will Get Relief — And How Much?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having completed congressional action on a six-month compromise extension of the income surcharge, the House now heads for debate on the massive tax reform bill.

Preliminary skirmishing centered today in the Rules Committee, which must decide whether to give critics of the reform bill as it is now drafted a chance to offer amendments.

Monday's 237-170 House vote assured extension of the 10 per cent surcharge only through Dec. 31. But an additional six-month extension, at 5 per cent, is included in the tax reform bill.

The entire extension is needed, the Nixon administration argues, if inflation is to be brought under control.

However, a group of Democrats wants to knock the additional 5 per cent extension out of the reform bill, which comes up for debate Wednesday with a vote planned for Thursday.

They also seek an opportunity to offer an amendment readjusting the proposed income tax rate reductions in the bill. The critics want to give less relief to upper bracket taxpayers and more to those in the middle brackets.

'CLOSED RULE'
The Rules Committee customarily sends tax bills to the House under a "closed rule," permitting no amendments but only a yes or no vote on the entire issue.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee is asking for this kind of handling of the tax reform bill and indications were the Rules Committee would go along.

There is more than usual pressure for departure from custom, however. Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, met Monday with members of the Democratic Study Group, the unofficial organization of House liberal and moderate Democrats, then drafted a letter to all Democratic members asking them to appear before the Rules Committee in behalf of a procedure permitting amendments.

STILL OPPOSED
Voting Monday on the six-month extension showed Democratic sentiment is still heavily against the surtax. There were 144 Democrats and 26 Republicans opposed to the bill, while 85 Democrats joined 152 Republicans in favoring it.

The 67-vote margin of victory on the surcharge contrasted with the five-vote margin President Nixon received June 30 when the House first voted on the surtax extension bill.

Actually, yesterday's House vote was taken on a different

Collins' Pal Hunted Across U.S.

California Killings May Be Linked To Michigan Case

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan authorities today awaited results of examination of a stolen trailer in Salinas, Calif. to see if there is any connection between three murders this summer in California and seven in southeastern Michigan over the last two years.

Authorities also embarked on a nationwide hunt for Andrew Manuel, 25, on a federal fugitive warrant in the theft of the small house trailer from Michigan.

Manuel, tall and heavy with a tattooed left forearm, was believed by authorities to have journeyed to California with John N. Collins, the 22-year-old college student charged with the latest of the seven murders in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

The California murders, two in Monterey County and one north of Los Angeles, were similar in some respects to the seven in Michigan.

The third woman was reported killed in Monterey County but federal and California authorities have not included her in the present investigation. They said the death of Susan M. Hennessy, 17, of Seaside, Calif., occurred before the time Collins and Manuel were reported to have reached the Salinas area. Her body was found June 17.

Edward Carlom, 22, a recent graduate of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti whose stolen motorcycle was found in the garage used by Collins, said Monday, a State Police officer told him there was evidence one or two girls had been slain in a trailer. However, State Police have declined comment.

Monterey County sheriff's police said Sgt. Ken Christensen and Detective Thomas Nasser of the Michigan State Police were making a complete laboratory check of the trailer for possible clues.

Smith said no evidence had been developed to link the Michigan slayings with the killing of young women in Monterey County.

Among the other connections which may link the widely separated murders was the fact that one girl slain in California was found with only one earring, as were several of the Michigan victims.

Collins, charged with the murder of Karen Sue Beineman, an Eastern Michigan coed, remained today in maximum security facilities in Ann Arbor's Washtenaw County Jail. A preliminary hearing on the charges is set for Thursday.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said Collins, who had been formally charged last Friday, did not begin eating until Sunday. He said the college senior — only six months away from becoming an elementary school teacher — was quite moody and jailers reported he had had repeated crying spells.

HAS ATTORNEY
However, Harvey noted that Collins had "said nothing related to the investigation." He has been represented by an attorney since his arrest last Thursday.

Authorities in Michigan declined to answer questions about Manuel, known also as Richard Diaz Jr. and James Skotak, but Sgt. Christensen said in Salinas police know Manuel was in the Northern California city "as recently as last Thursday."

Meetings Will Explain Millage

Public meetings will be held Wednesday and Thursday in Benton Harbor senior high library to present details of the school district's operating tax election.

Dr. Mark Lewis, superintendent, announced the sessions will be held at 7:30 each night. The district votes next Monday on a proposal for 3.5 mills in operating taxes.

Tonight, Dr. Lewis will address a meeting of "concerned parents" of Bard school community at 7 o'clock in Blossom Acres Community center. He will describe how the operating millage, or lack of it, will affect Bard school.

Lewis noted that similar meetings held before the June 9 election were very poorly attended. "We hope that people of the district now will take the opportunity to find out just how much the school district needs the extra operating funds before deciding how to vote."

Defeated in June was a 5.5-mill proposal.

Lewis commented that he had received many requests for information concerning the budget for the 1969-1970 school year, particularly in the area of anticipated program reductions that would become necessary if the additional operating funds from the special one-year millage were not available.

Said Lewis: "We're caught in the wage-price spiral just like everybody else. In fact, a recent study of our expenses and those of other school districts in the state and nation show that the average rate of increase in costs for schools is nearly three times as high as the national average. We want the citizens to know all the facts about how we run our schools here, and we're ready to answer any and all questions."

Nixon Shifting Our Foreign Policy

For better than three decades, the U.S. has followed a foreign policy remarkably similar to the simplistic theme in a western movie which pits the good guys against the bad guys.

From 1934 into 1945, Nazi Germany was the bad guy. Any nation overrun by Hitler's forces or displaying any way to resist their inundation was a good guy.

By rushing in to fill the void left in the wake of Germany's military defeat, Russia and her affiliates assumed the devil's toga at Washington.

Every Administration from FDR to LBJ adopted this measurement.

This is not stated critically whatever because the expressed goals and the overt acts of the Nazi and Russian governments left our former Presidents with no alternative but to pick and choose among the world's embassies those countries displaying the least intransigent toward our nation.

When a national leader states repeatedly it is his country's mission to impinge his philosophy upon the rest of the world, an outsider would be foolhardy not to accept his words as face value.

Hope for the best but be prepared for the worst is proverb forced upon those former Presidents, and if any of them had taken a stand away from that cautious reminder, the public would have demanded his impeachment.

Truman's intervention in Korea demonstrated some points which went unnoticed at the time.

The Communists are not the super military machine they were thought to be.

Neither is Communism the monolithic mental attitude it had been painted.

Most people of all nationalities, whatever their leadership may say or do, are not particularly anxious to be shooting at one another.

Finally, the Free World countries are no more monolithically inclined than are the Iron Curtain ones.

The one dent in the Red shield which Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson could fashion from digesting those facts is the apparent concession by the Kremlin that there is room on our globe for more than one brand of political thinking.

Nixon's wide ranging visit to 23 countries, including Rumania, an Iron Curtain member, where he received the greatest welcome, borrows a leaf from our domestic political book.

This lesson holds it to be folly to climb out on a limb of undying friendship or deathless enmity toward an individual or a faction.

A friend may switch allegiance and a foe may join one's camp at any time because circumstances can reverse their former positions or alter their thinking.

Consequently unless the domestic politico is able to adjust with the tide, being staked to polarized friendships and enmities may drown him.

This is the doctrine of opportunism.

Carried to extremes, it becomes a derisive thing.

Employed judiciously, it can spell the difference between long term success and failure.

Nixon's speeches to his foreign audiences carries the single message that Uncle Sam can play ball with anybody if the other party shows any willingness to come into the ball park.

We're not after anyone's scalp. Neither are we going to be scalped.

Whether the other guy is a Communist, a British conservative, a French DeGaulist, an Indian Nationalist, and so on, means nothing. Does he want to play ball?

Nixon's gamble is taken on the assumption that nationalism is a deeper ideal than international concepts of Communism and democracy; that all governments, including those which are captive to an ideology imposed from the outside, inevitably react from that base.

History has demonstrated this individual fluidity to be the way of life among all countries, and today's events confirm the precept.

England and most of her dominions trade with Red China despite the former being a cornerstone in the Free World structure. China maneuvers to supplant Russia in the Communist hierarchy. France continues to follow DeGaulle's theorem of a third power bloc. Depending on how the Kremlin treats Rumania for being so cordial to Nixon, there are some straws in the wind indicating the Russians are trying to find a way to shake hands with Washington now that the Chinese are being so rude to a former teacher.

This business of determining who at any given moment is friend or foe is a tricky one.

Since it has been and gives all indication of continuing to be the norm in international politics, Nixon has decided to try a different assessment in terminology.

The good guys and the bad guys are to be re-sorted along the line of which ones can deal with the best.

Spain After Franco

Gen. Francisco Franco, strongman leader of Spain for more than 30 years, has named Prince Juan Carlos de Bourbon the future chief of state with the title of king.

The 31-year-old prince's father, Don Juan of Bourbon, has grudgingly accepted the decision of the Spanish parliament, but this by no means assures tranquility in the years to come.

Both father and son want to restore the monarchy, which disappeared when Alfonso XIII, Don Juan's father, was forced out in 1931. The son argued that the monarchy must be a successor to Franco; the father insisted that it must be an alternative.

Don Juan has long made it clear that he intended to preside over a regime that would guarantee freedom and reforms. This attitude eliminated his consideration by the dictator.

Ironically, Juan Carlos can get the job but may not keep it; Don Juan might be able to keep it, but he certainly won't get it.

Associates of Juan Carlos wonder whether he will try to establish some kind of independent image, away from Franco's shadow. If he does, it will have to be done carefully because by law, Franco can revoke the prince's designation.

Though there was some indication that Franco was becoming more liberal a few years ago, many of the reforms allowing some press freedom and less restrictions on Protestants have been rescinded.

If the king-designate can remove himself a little from Franco's shadow without risking the leader's revocation, he may have an enduring reign.

A member of the naturalist school, Maupassant chose the subjects for his stories and novels chiefly from the Norman peasant life. Other topics that influenced his writings were the Franco-Prussian war, the behavior of the bourgeoisie and the fashionable life of fashionable Paris.

For a time, Maupassant was a pupil of one of the masters of 19th century French fiction, Gustave Flaubert. He brought much the same careful attention to the writer's craft as did his teacher.

Among the famous stories penned by Maupassant were "En Famille," "Le Ranz des vaches," "The Umbrella." These stories are built around simple episodes from the humble life of every day.

In tone the tales are marked by objectivity—a strong point with him—detachment and a keen sense of the subtle uses of irony.

In style, Maupassant is direct and simple, with attention to realistic detail. His vision of human existence is on the somber side. He sees rather clearly the toil, suffering, agony and the bitterly ironic events and happenings that twist and turn human lives around.

Among his better novels are "Une Vie" (written in 1883), telling about the frustrating existence of a Norman wife; "Bel-Ami" (written in 1885), about the life of an unscrupulous journalist; and "Pierre et Jean."

Maupassant died in 1893. Others born today include Robert Gaylor, Conrad Aiken, John Huston and Frank Stranahan.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

Scabies is a skin disease which is wrongly believed to be a social or venereal disease. This idea probably originated from the fact that it spreads from person to person by direct contact. The only social aspects of this skin condition is that more than one member of the family usually acquires it.

A tiny parasite is the cause of scabies. It is so small, in fact, that it can barely be seen with a magnifying lens. A distressing, itchy feeling is the result of the parasite's burrowing deep into the skin where it then deposits its eggs.

This worm-like parasite leaves a readily recognized furrow on the skin surface. It appears most frequently between the fingers and on the wrists, but it can also be found on the abdomen, the chest, and the genitals.

People who live in close contact with others in schools, dormitories, barracks, and within the close confines of the home tend to pass the parasite to each other, even by hand-shaking. Towels and bed sheets can also be the media for cross-contamination.

The condition is sometimes referred to simply as the "itch" because of its predominant symptom.

Modern drugs and safe pesticides prescribed by a physician can destroy the parasite, and quickly and effectively cure the victims of this unpleasant condition.

In order to avoid re-infection, scrupulous cleanliness is imperative.

Even with special preventive attitudes in medicine, outbreaks of meningitis still do occur. The most common cause of spinal meningitis is the meningococcus bacteria.

Surprisingly, this germ may be found in a healthy person without any evidence of illness. People who harbor it may themselves never contract the illness, but can spread it to other susceptible people.

Fortunately, signs and symptoms of meningitis are readily recognized, and with intensive treatment with modern antibiotics the infection is controlled and cured rapidly, in most cases.

Some people do have immunity against spinal meningitis, which may have been acquired during infancy and childhood. In the armed services, it was found that the disease occurred with greater frequency in young men who came from farm and rural areas where early exposure to such germs is less likely.

Epidemics of spinal meningitis have been dramatically reduced by constant emphasis on cleanliness in confined barracks and dormitories.

Opening lead—Two of hearts. Some of the fine plays on defense that you read about might cause you to suspect that one or both defenders had seen all four hands. It is certainly true that we would all defend better seeing all 52 cards, but the fact is that in most deals you are literally expected to play just as effectively as though everyone's cards were exposed.

Here is a typical case from a match that was played on Bridge-O-Rama before a large audience. Faced with a difficult opening lead, West chose the deuce of hearts even though

South had bid that suit. Declarer won East's king with the ace and at trick two led a low diamond towards dummy. Right at this point, even before West had played, the Bridge-O-Rama commentator, who together with the audience could see all four hands on the screen, said: "If West takes the king and returns the jack of clubs, South will go down one."

These words were hardly out of the commentator's mouth when West went up with the king of diamonds and returned the jack of clubs. South promptly lost a diamond and four clubs in succession, and there was nothing he could do to prevent this from happening.

Actually, the jack of clubs lead was not as miraculous a play as it appears to be. Far from being a shot in the dark, the club shift was very well reasoned.

It was obvious from East's play of the king of hearts that South had the A-Q, possibly the A-Q-J. It was also obvious from South's diamond lead at trick two that he had the ace. And it was likewise highly probable from the bidding that declarer had the ace of spades.

It followed that South could not also have the ace of clubs or he would have bid more strongly, and the attack on declarer's obvious weak spot, clubs, consequently offered the only real chance to beat the contract.

Every Benton Harbor area resident has a vital stake in our schools. Good schools are a community asset. Poor schools are a liability. A community is no better than its school system. What parent chooses a residence in a community with inferior schools? What business locates or expands its plant in a community which is unwilling to provide good schools? We can support a good school system, or we can let our community die on the vine.

Five Hurt In US-31 Accident

Mrs. Norma Dickerson, 34, was admitted to Berrien General hospital and was in satisfactory condition today. She was riding with her husband Merald, 35, when his car collided with a car driven by Lavada M. Wickler, 34, of Niles.

Treated and released were Dickerson and two children in his car, Nita, 6, and Doretta, 1. Allie Barker, 72, of Niles, a passenger in the other car was also treated and released, the sheriff department said.

After another accident at Colfax and Empire avenues, Benton Harbor, yesterday, a pedestrian, Genevieve M. Howorth, 48, of 140 West Empire, was treated and released from Benton Harbor Mercy hospital.

Elderly Housing Has Vacant Apartments

If you're over 62 or drawing total Social Security disability and have resided in Benton township three years, you may be interested in one of the vacancies at the Benton township project for the elderly.

According to Sammie Smith, township housing commission executive director, vacancies still exist in the development located on Plaza drive off Napier, behind Fairplain Plaza.

The 100-unit project, now 85 per cent filled, was completed in February and leasing began in April, Smith said.

Rents are based on the amount of income earned and range from $35 to $50 per month.

For information, call the township housing commission, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

SJ Twp. OK's Sewage Terms

Lincoln Township Would Pay 64 Per Cent

St. Joseph township trustees voted 3-1 last night to authorize a 64-36 per cent split of the cost of a sanitary sewer system between Lincoln and St. Joseph townships.

St. Joseph township's share would be 36 per cent. The vote authorized Supervisor Orval Benson to present the proposed split to Lincoln township authorities for their approval.

The 64-36 split is based on the population of township areas affected by the sewer system. The new sewer line will not serve the Fairplain part of St. Joseph township east of the St. Joseph river, but will include all of Lincoln township.

The board's action implements a decision July 9 to join the sanitary sewer system for a large area south of St. Joseph from a point south of Stevensville to the Twin Cities sewage disposal plant, Industrial avenue, St. Joseph.

The July vote authorized the $1.8 million project, contingent upon acquisition of a $990,000 federal grant. An escape clause was written into the approval in the event the funds are not forthcoming.

CASTS NO VOTE

Only Trustee Robert DeVries voted against the cost split last night. DeVries objected that long before a 20-year bond issue could be paid up, St. Joseph township residents would be paying a disproportionately large amount because Lincoln township's growth would be greater than.

Trustees Edwin Brink, Dr. John Manning and Carl Reschke voted in favor of the motion. Clerk Andrew Schmidman and Treasurer Einar A. (Larry) Larson were on vacation, and Supervisor Benson was convalescing from an illness.

The trustees voted unanimously to accept a $3,000 bid from Statistical Business Service, 777 Riverview drive, to computerize tax processing.

The board rejected a $4,148 bid by the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan. The long-delayed computerization measure came after a committee appointed at the trustees' July 23 meeting to study data processing for tax bills reported favorably on the Statistical Business Service bid.

The company will begin feeding data into their computers almost immediately, committee members reported.

In other business last night, the trustees voted 3-1 to increase insurance coverage for township volunteer firemen from $10,000 to $25,000.

Noting the many risks faced by volunteer firemen for little pay, the board authorized a year contract with Humphrey Insurance Agency, 310 Michigan street, Benton Harbor.

Trustee DeVries again cast the single dissenting vote.

EQUIPMENT APPROVED The board also voted unanimously to approve buying two air packs for the township fire department. The $88-each air packs are used for entering smoke-filled areas.

A small contingent of Parker avenue residents was on hand to thank Trustee Edwin Brink acting chairman in Supervisor Benson's absence, on his quick action to prevent the widening of Olive court, a short side-street.

Neighbors joined with the only resident of Olive court to protest the widening preparatory to paving the street. A call by Brink to the county road commission rescinded the trustees' previous request for the road paving.

Brink also requested any resident interested in applying for a seat on the Community Relations Advisory board to call the township office.

Whittlesey Changed To Napier

SJ Commission Has Brief Session

The St. Joseph city commission last night changed the name of Whittlesey avenue between Niles and Langley avenues to Napier.

With no residents in attendance to express either opposition or approval, the commissioners unanimously approved the change recommended to them by the city planning commission. The street now extends eastward from Niles avenue under a single name.

In other action, commissioners referred to the planning commission a request of Lawrence Zuhl for a zoning change to allow a multiple-family dwelling in the 1300 block of Lake boulevard (Lot 9, Napier addition). Zuhl plans a four-unit, two-story, brick and frame building.

The commissioners ordered the demolition within 30 days of a house at 1009 Market street. The owner, Naomi Rowland, has already taken out a wrecking permit.

Last week the commission delayed for a week the decision to order the house destroyed until it could learn whether the occupant had found housing elsewhere. Commissioner Frank Smith last night reported that she had moved out.

Broken Windows Point To Entry

Benton Harbor police said both the Seely-McCord school and the Morton Hill school appeared to be entered sometime last night, but nothing was determined taken from either. Police said they found two windows broken in the schools.

Fines May Be Raised Up To $12

City Fathers Eye Changes In Ordinance

Motorists who park their cars in two-hour parking zones in Benton Harbor and then leave them all day for only a $1 parking ticket are facing a crackdown if suggested amendments are adopted.

The city commission last night received proposals to push the all-day cost to at least $4 and as high as $12 if a 48-hour grace period is not met.

Prepared by city attorney Samuel Henderson, the proposals were contained in proposed amendments to the existing city parking control code. They were referred to the legislative committee of the commission for study.

In addition to the crackdown on all-day violators, the proposals also contained higher fines for parking violations such as double parking and parking in front of a fire hydrant and a plan to create parking violations bureau. The non-over-time fines were recommended at $2 and $4.

Henderson told the commission that under the proposed parking code amendments a ticket could be issued for each two-hour period violated by the same motorist. Now, only one ticket may be issued if the car is not moved for the entire day, he said.

A single violation ticket if paid in the first 48 hours would remain at $1, said Henderson. But, if paid later without court action, the amount would be $3 per ticket. It is now $2.

Under the section covering violations other than overtime, a new ticket could be issued to the violator every 15 minutes. Each ticket would require a $2 fine if paid within 48 hours. If paid later but before court action, the fine would be $4 per ticket.

Henderson said the parking violations bureau would replace the ticket bureau of the former municipal court. It would be run by the city treasurer. If a ticket were not paid in 15 days a notice would be sent to the motorist. If no response was received in five days, Henderson said the ticket would then be turned over to district court for action.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other action, the commission:

- Scheduled for Aug. 25, a public hearing on the proposed sale of 1.3 acres of urban renewal land on Michigan avenue to the Palladium Publishing company. The firm originally announced plans for a $750,000 expansion program. Its present headquarters are located on abutting property. Price of the land is $44,944.

- Granted permission for a liquor license at the Milner hotel, reversing an earlier denial.

- Adopted an agreement with the state to pay half of the $3,694 cost for the traffic light at Fair and Highland avenue.

- Received six bids for a proposed shelter in a park at Fair and Highland avenue. The bids ranged from $5,518.22 to $8,122. Half of the cost be paid by Benton township which is working on the project with the city.

- Indicated dedication of the Kennedy Memorial park created near city hall on Wall street would be held in the next 30-45 days. Commissioner F. Joseph Flough praised Mayor Wilbert Smith for his work on the project.

- Approved a 19 by 113 foot easement with the Indiana and Michigan electric company on city-owned urban renewal property fronting on Pipestone street.

- Referred to the liquor committee a request from Abholt E. Taylor to transfer a beer and wine take-out license to 684 South Fair.

- Adopted a resolution of sympathy for commissioner T. Gregory Longpre's family. Mrs. Cecilia Longpre, the commissioner's mother, died Thursday.

LIQUOR LICENSE Approval of the liquor license transfer to the Milner came after commissioner John Stanek, chairman of the commission's liquor committee, said the new proposal stayed within its intent of the committee's drive against additional liquor outlets.

Under the new proposal the hotel will acquire a resort (See back page, sec 1, col. 7)

The new firm will be a member of the multiple listing system of Southwestern Michigan.

REZONING ASKED

Bendix Buys Land At Lakeshore Plant

Plans for the purchase of approximately three acres of land by the Bendix Corporation Hydraulics division, south of St. Joseph, were revealed last night at the Lincoln township Planning Commission meeting.

The area, which Bendix has an option to purchase, is just south of the present plant site on Lake Shore drive. The First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan is the present owner of the land. Bendix officials said the land would be purchased for future development and no plans for new industrial construction at the site are being presently considered.

The corporation asked the planning commission to change the zoning from commercial to industrial on the lot. A public hearing on the matter has been tentatively scheduled for the Planning Commission meeting on Sept. 2.

Showers Would Extend Cave-In

Cause Of Empire Collapse Not Determined

"If it rains in the next couple of day, we'll be in real trouble," said Benton Harbor City Engineer Sam Wells after inspecting the Empire avenue cave-in Monday.

"The hole is about three times bigger than it looks on the surface, but there is no danger to nearby buildings," the engineer added. The high school is on the west side of the street.

Wells said the cave-in, has blocked the flow of water in a 70-year old combination storm and sanitary sewer and is causing a back-up.

A rain would add more water the engineer said and basements in homes with lines feeding into the sewer line could be flooded.

The cave-in occurred about 1 p.m. Friday near Colfax avenue and almost took vehicles with it, Wells said. One camper picked up truck had just passed over the 8 by 8 foot section of pavement when it collapsed, the engineer said.

The driver, said Wells, felt the rear wheels go down and then saw the hole in the rearview mirror. A car following the truck eastward swerved into the westbound lane to avoid nosing into the hole, the engineer said. Neither of the drivers was identified.

According to Wells, the cave-in went down about 20 feet and involved about a 24 by 24 foot area.

"We're not sure yet what caused it," said Wells. "But a sewer built in the late 1800s or early 1900s is down there. It could be it developed a crack and forced the earth into the river."

Wells said the 36-inch sewer carries both storm and sanitary flow and serves a wide area on both sides of Colfax avenue.

Wells said pumps to remove the water were to be in operation by last night. He said a wrecking ball was expected to arrive today to know away the pavement where the dirt has shifted.

Once the pavement is removed, Wells said, sheet piling will have to be installed to permit crews to reach the bottom of the pit. A determination of what really happened, he said, could not be made until then.

One problem with the repair work, according to the engineer, would be getting the proper equipment to the site.

The Yerrington and Harris firm has been hired to get the work done, said Wells. But some of the equipment might not be readily available.

BH Father To Pay On Arrearage

A Benton Harbor ADC father was ordered Monday by Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes to begin paying off a child support arrearage of $910 at $5 a week, according to Friend of the Court John Schoenhals.

Thomas Thompson was found guilty of contempt, placed on probation a year to Schoenhals and ordered to continue weekly payments of $14 for the support of the illegitimate child.

Trailer Park Proposed In Lincoln

Building Permit Is Requested

A proposal to build a mobile home park on St. Joseph avenue, just north of the Stevensville village limits, was referred last night to a regional planning board by the Lincoln township planning commission.

The commission members indicated the plan "should be carefully evaluated by the professional planners of the regional planning commission." Such a detailed study would help the local board decide the feasibility of having a third trailer park within the township.

The regional planning board consists of representatives from Lincoln township and the village of Stevensville. It has retained a Grand Rapids engineering firm as a professional consultant.

Developer of the mobile home park is Allen Grams. It would be called North Shore Estates.

ASKS BUILDING PERMIT Grams said he is seeking a construction permit — not a change in zoning because the land currently is properly zoned for mobile homes.

A public hearing on the matter has been scheduled for the township planning commission's next regular meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 2, pending the completion of the regional board's report.

In other action, the commission referred two recommended ordinances to the Lincoln Township board of trustees for final action and discussed possible communication gaps between the planners and the public.

One ordinance would require used car lots to be operated in conjunction with new car dealerships. The agency must be franchised by a "principal automobile manufacturer" and have an enclosed display room.

WEED CONTROL The second measure would govern weed control.

It would make uncontrolled weed growth unlawful on subdivision lots. Penalties range from $25 to have the township cut the weeds to a maximum $100 fine and/or 30-day jail sentence.

The commission members also discussed the possibilities of improving understanding between the board and the public. The planners agreed that at least one member will explain to the audience highlights of each issue before the commission votes on the matter.

YMCA Will Sponsor Zoo Trip

The Benton Harbor YMCA will sponsor a trip to the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago tomorrow for boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 15. Up to 40 young adults can be accommodated.

The fourth of five young people's trips to be conducted by the YMCA this summer, the Chicago journey is to include a ride on the zoo's railroad and a Porpoise show. The bus leaves at 8 a.m. and is scheduled to return by 6 p.m.

Price for the trip, including admissions, transportation, supervision and special insurance, is $3.85 for boys and girls under 12, and $4.25 for those 12 and over. Non-YMCA members pay an additional 75 cents.

The final trip planned for this summer is to be a visit to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry, August 13.

TWO STATE FIRMS ACQUIRED BY GAST CORP.

Covert, Watervliet
End Merger TalksOpposition
Strong On Both SidesRecent Meeting
So Heated Police
Are Summoned

COVERT — Further annexation plans between the Covert and Watervliet school districts ended last night when the Watervliet school board, in a letter to Covert's board, said there were too many split feelings in both communities.

Covert, faced with financial troubles and pressure for an improved educational program from its residents, was seeking annexation with either the Watervliet, South Haven or Bangor school districts.

Watervliet School Superintendent, Richard Rogers, said this morning that the Watervliet board had decided, "Not to stir up a hornet's nest" over the possible consolidation.

He said there was controversy in both communities and that annexation wouldn't be good for either district at this time. "We have a new high school building that will be sufficient for our program for a number of years, without consolidation," he added.

Covert School Board President, Graham Brimhall, said, "We can't annex unless the people want it, and there's a few noisy ones who definitely don't."

Brimhall said no further annexation plans will be continued. "We're going to leave things as they stand," he said. Similar consolidation planning sessions with South Haven and Bangor were cancelled, Brimhall added.

Superintendent Rogers also said that the Watervliet board decision had nothing to do with an argument between Covert school board members and Covert residents at a joint meeting of the two school districts recently.

The two districts had met to discuss annexation but the meeting was ended by the Covert school board when four Covert residents refused to leave the meeting after the school boards went into executive session.

A Covert school board member called state police from the South Haven post who reported the argument as a minor incident where no evictions or arrests were made.

PEACEFUL CONCLUSION

South Haven state police post commander, Staff Sgt. Glenn Foster, said the verbal argument was settled by the Covert school board by adjourning its meeting.

In other action at the regular Covert school board meeting last night, the 25 member Citizens' Buffer Committee made its first report since its creation some six months ago.

The committee, representing students, teachers and parents were appointed by the Covert board to help ease controversy over student discipline.

Harry Sarno, chairman of the ANTIQUATED LICENSE PLATE: Bruce Kibler, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kibler of North Branch road, Watervliet, found this 56 year old license plate while he and his father were digging in his backyard. The plate, dated 1913, is of porcelain enamel baked on a 1/16th inch steel plate and showed very little rust. Young Kibler found the plate bent, but in good condition. But when he straightened it out, some enamel fell off. The color is a pea green with white numerals bearing a state of Michigan seal in the upper left corner. Buffer Committee, submitted the joint report on a revised student discipline code for the high school students.

Recommendations were made by the committee for the establishment of a student court which would handle all cases of infractions by students.

Action will be taken on the recommended conduct code after study by the school board. Teachers and school board members are invited to the Aug. 12 Buffer Committee meeting to be held at the school.

The school board also certified that 22.68 mills were being spread on the state equalized valuation for operational funds and three mills for the debt retirement.

Members said that if the special election for a one-mill levy request, set for Sept. 8, was defeated, that the school district would be able to afford only three of the planned six portable classrooms needed. The classrooms are necessary because of the June defeat by voters of a bond issue for construction of a new school.

BORROWING APPROVED

In other action, a resolution was passed to borrow $125,000 against anticipated state aid payments. The board also set the date for the annual budget hearing for Sept. 8, the next scheduled school board meeting.

Dr. Lewis Wood, superintendent, was also charged with preparing cost estimates for the possible purchase of a nine or 12 passenger station wagon to be used in transporting seven junior and senior high school students to Bangor for classes not available in Covert.

Teacher vacancies in the school district were listed as: a vocal music or band teacher, girls' physical education, home economics, junior high math, special education, sixth grade, and a football coach.

Tri-Mer corporation, founded in 1960, employs 40 people. Tri-Mer designs and manufactures primarily air pollution control equipment as it pertains to production and chemical processes. Tri-Mer has used its background in the fabrication of corrosion resistant materials to produce other products such as centrifugal exhaust and laboratory blowers, moisture eliminators, etching consoles, and laboratory cabinets.

G. H. Walgren company, in business since 1955, employs 15 and is primarily an engineering service company in the anodizing and plating fields. Walgren has the capability to help plan and then design, manufacture, and install the complete metal finishing system including the treatment of vapor and liquid wastes.

The combined sales of the two newly acquired firms is approximately $2.5 million.

A Gast spokesman stated that the two acquired companies will continue to operate at their present locations and no transfers of personnel are contemplated.

Two Men Arrested
As 'Pot' Harvesters

NILES — Two more arrests were made here last night by state police officers in connection with marijuana. Two men from Detroit were arrested and charged with harvesting marijuana.

Robert James Wilson, 21, and Robert J. Knox, 43, both of Detroit, were lodged in Cass county jail last night after officers making a routine check of an area where marijuana grows wild, found the two men attempting to throw bundles from their car.

Officers said they stopped by the road and found bundles in the car and on the ground totaling nearly 100 pounds of marijuana. The men will be arraigned by district court judge Stog Lignell in Cassopolis this morning. Two Indiana youths Sunday were charged with possession of marijuana in a separate incident.

Berrien Deputies OK
F.O.P. Lodge As Agent

Pay Negotiations Upcoming

Berrien county sheriff's deputies Monday overwhelmingly approved St. Joseph Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 96 as their exclusive bargaining agent in salary negotiations with the Berrien board of supervisors.

In a secret election Monday at the lodge clubhouse, 3609 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, 43 votes were cast, with 42 okaying the lodge as agent and 1 against, according to elections officer Wheeler Witte of the state labor mediators board.

Deputies said 49 members of the sheriff's department were eligible to vote. Excluded were Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell, his undersheriff, teletype operators, part-time deputies, canine police and summer marine patrolmen.

Balloting was held from 1 to 5 p.m.

Neither the lodge nor the county board of supervisors has picked the men who will bargain, according to Berrien Supervisor Chairman Frank Poorman and Lodge President Robert Kimmerly.

"We hope to meet with representatives of the state lodge within a week" as a prelude to negotiations, Kimmerly said.

"But we want to emphasize we hope we can work with the board."

Poorman said he was pleased at the result of the election Monday.

Witte said the state board will certify election results to supervisors and the lodge in five days if there are no valid objections.

BAINBRIDGE TWP.

Trailer Locations
Will Be Restricted

With two exceptions, future use of mobile homes on lots other than licensed trailer courts is to be prohibited in Bainbridge township.

The Bainbridge township board Monday night voted to amend the township zoning ordinance to include the prohibition. The amendment becomes effective immediately.

Henry Schaus, Bainbridge township clerk, said the ordinance amendment excludes mobile units temporarily occupied in licensed labor camps by migrant workers. He said it also excludes elderly persons in mobile units located on the home lots of close relatives.

Schaus said the amendment was made to halt a problem of increased mobile homes being placed on widely scattered individual lots in the township.

The board also approved current bills totaling an unusually small amount of $10.70.

Blueberry Event Goes
Big TimeWill Now Become
National Festival

SOUTH HAVEN — Next year's Blueberry festival here will be designated a National Blueberry festival and take place during the peak of the blueberry growing season rather than during the usual Fourth of July celebration.

According to Tom Renner, festival chairman, the 1970 celebration will be listed as a national festival because of Michigan's and the South Haven area's nation-wide leading role in producing blueberries.

J. P. Holbein, general manager of the Michigan Blueberry Growers association, said the state and local area will harvest more than 25 million pounds of blueberries this summer, leading the United States in blueberry production.

Renner also said that next year's festival will include special activities each weekend throughout July aimed at the community's tourism.

The official festival period next year will be July 23-26.

SUPPORT CONTINUES

Festival committee members decided that the Independence Day parade and fireworks would serve as a fitting start for the Blueberry Festival period and they would continue their financial support for that event. Members felt that the festival would be better timed if it met with the growing season.

The festival committee, made up of Edwin D. Appleyard, Kenneth C. Coe, Mrs. Robert Flood, Jerry Gruber, Kirk McCreary, James Mitchell, Tom Renner, Addison Roberts, Edwin Stieve and Mrs. Leon Wohlfert, are also in the process of becoming a state approved non-profit corporation.

Van Buren Burglaries Investigated

PAW PAW — The Van Buren county sheriff's department is cooperating with the Lawrence and Mattawan police departments on the investigation of three burglaries which occurred over the weekend.

The first two break-ins occurred in Lawrence Saturday night or early Sunday at the Chevrolet garage and the Leach Sinclair service station.

Lawrence policeman Roscoe Earl reported that a small unknown amount of money was taken from each business.

The third burglary which occurred at Spike's service station in Mattawan was reported to Mattawan police Sunday.

Mattawan policeman Frank Carpenter, told sheriff's deputies that about $50 was taken from the station.

Sheriff's deputies said yesterday that the burglars' method of operation on all three break-ins was the same with entry and exit through small windows. They are continuing to investigate the possibility that the same person or persons could be involved in all three burglaries.

No arrests have been made in any of the break-ins as yet.

AGES 8, 12

Two Found In Building

Two brothers, ages 12 and 8, were petitioned to Berrien juvenile court yesterday after one of them was found inside Taylorford Products, Inc., building, 1340 Territorial road, by owner Paul Taylor.
